MULTI-SPORT GAMES

XXV Central American and Caribbean Games — Santo Domingo 2026

The XXV Central American and Caribbean Games represent one of the most significant multi-sport events on the regional calendar. Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic, is preparing to host athletes from across the region, and the organizing committee has made substantial progress in venue preparation, technical planning, and regulatory documentation. The following key activities have been advanced to ensure the Games meet international standards.

Venue Definition

Competition and training venues have been formally defined, with the Palacio de los Deportes Ricardo Gioriber serving as the primary facility. All venue areas have been assessed for compliance with international competition requirements, including athlete circulation, media zones, and spectator capacity.

Technical Visit

A technical visit was conducted in February 2025, allowing federation representatives and technical delegates to evaluate venue conditions, logistics, and operational readiness firsthand. Findings from this visit have informed subsequent planning decisions.

Classification Manual

The Classification Manual, approved by Centro Caribe Sports, has been distributed to all National Olympic Committees across the region. This document establishes the eligibility, classification, and participation framework that will govern athlete entries for the Games.

Technical Manual & Competition System

Work is actively underway on the Technical Manual of the Event and the Competition System. These documents will define match formats, scheduling protocols, officiating standards, and all operational procedures required to deliver a seamless competition experience for athletes, coaches, and officials.
